NO TIME LIKE THE OLD TIME. here is no time like the old time, When you and I were young, When the buds of April blossomed, And the birds of spring-time sung, The garden's brightest glories By summer suns are nursed, But ob, the sweet, sweet, violets, The flowers that open first!

There is no place like the old place. Where you and I were born, Where we lifted first our eyelids On the splendors of the morn, From the milk white breast that From the clinging arms that bore, When the dark eyes glistened o'er us, That will look on us no more!

There is no friend like the old triend That has shared our morning days, No bomage like his praise Fame is the scentless sunflower, With gaudy crown of gold; But frieudship is the breathing rose, With sweets in every fold.

There is no love like the old love That we courted in our pride; Though our leaves are falling, falling And we're fading side by side, There are blossoms all around es, With the colors of our dawn. And we live in borrowed sunshime.

When the light of day is gone. They shall never be forgot! There is no place like the old place— Keep green the dear old spot! There are no friends like our old friends May heaven prolong their lives ! There are no loyes like our old loves-God bless our loving wives!

A DAY AT NIAGARA. BY MARE TWAIN.

Niagara Falls is one of the finest structures in the known world. I tering place recently, for the first time, and was well pleased. A gen-Fall that the Fall appeared insignificant. But that is all regulated now. The hackmen have all been tamed, numbered and placarded, and black guarded, and brought into subjection of the law, and dosed with moral principle till they are as meek as now the Privateers, and they enjoy their idle time in warning the public against each other. The Reg ulars are under the hotel banners, and do the legitimate at two dollars an hour, and the Privateers prowl darkly on neutral ground and pick off stragglers at half price. But there are no more outrages and extortions.

That sort of thing cured itself. It made the Falls unpopular by getting into the newspapers; and whenever a public evil achieves that sort of success for itself, its days are numbered. It became apparent that the Falls had to be discontinued, or the hackmen had to subside. They could not damn the Falls so they did the hackmen. One can be comfortable and happy there now. I drank up nost of the American Fall before I learned that the waters were not considered medicinal.-Why are the people left in ignorance that way? I might have gone on and ruined a fine property, merely for the want of a little trifling information. And yet the sources of information are not meagre. You are sometimes in doubt there what you ought to do, but you are seldom in doubt about what you must not do. No, the signs keep you posted. In your room at the hotel you will find your course marked out in the most convenient way, by placards on the wall, like these: "Pull the bell rope gently, but don't jerk."

"Bolt your door." "Don't scratch matches on the wall." "Turn off your gas when you re- the war path."
